Summary: HiJack metion. Hiccup and Jack don't like baths. And they definitely hate bath time.

Bath Time!

Bath Time!

Kura: For the HiJack Revolution! Part of the dare from itsanauthorthing. Hiccup and Jack get dirty.

Sakura: But they refuse to take a bath. Enjoy.

"I don't wanna take a bath!" Jack slammed his foot down. Tooth, his dear aunt and babysitter, narrowed her eyes. She looked at the two boys before her. Both were covered in mud and grime.

She sighed and shook her head. In all honesty, she found it adorable that the two boys did things together. It was clear the two boys like each other. Sure, they said they were just friends. (For now that is)

"Jackson Overland Frost." She gave him a stern look.

"Hiccup doesn't wanna take a bath!" He pointed to Hamish Henrick Haddock, aka, Hiccup.

The eight year old smiled and nodded at the six year olds words.

"Ana?" An Australian accented voice called.

"In here Aster!" Tooth sighed.

Aster walked in, his silver-blue spiky hair held in a ponytail.

He took one look at the boys and smiled widely.

Tooth huffed, 'HELP ME!' she mouthed.

Aster chuckled and picked the boys up onto his shoulders.

"NO! JACK! FIGHT IT!" Hiccup yelled.

The two boys kicked at the older man. But it did nothing.

The Australian was too strong.

Tooth smiled as she followed him.

"Time to get clean! " She smiled.

The two boys widened their eyes.

Emerald met sapphire.

They tried to escape.

They tried to shove Aster in instead.

But nothing worked.

So, with a SPLASH! they were dumped into two tubs. Hiccup on the right, Jack on the left. Aster worked on Hiccup and Tooth worked on Jack.

The boys pouted as they were scrubbed clean.

There was one thing that was pretty obviously known about them.

Bath time, to them, was evil!

Kura: I don't know what this even is...meh, review anyways, I might turn this into a bunch of one-shots about them refusing to take a bath. Who knows...
